

EDITORIAL

It is a true pleasure to welcome readers to the 60th edition of Revista San Gregorio. This issue reflects the effort and passion of our academic community to contribute high-quality knowledge and maintain our standing as a reference in scientific publishing. We are proud to remain present in prestigious databases such as Clarivate Analytics (Emerging Sources Citation Index), Latindex (Catalog 2.0), SciELO-Ecuador, DOAJ, REDIB, and Dialnet, among others.

In this edition, we are pleased to feature the contributions of 43 authors, once again demonstrating the reach and diversity of our journal. Of these, 51% are affiliated with national institutions, including Universidad Técnica de Manabí, Universidad Nacional de Educación, and Universidad San Gregorio de Portoviejo. The remaining 49% represent international universities, including El Centro Universitario de Cárdenas, Universidad de Matanzas, and Universidad de Holguín (Cuba); Universidad de Colima and Universidad Autónoma de Coahuila (Mexico); Universidad CES (Colombia); Universidad del Bío-Bío and Universidad Católica de Temuco (Chile). Each article in this issue is a testament to the rigorous work and commitment to research that characterizes our contributors. We thank all the authors and reviewers who make it possible for this publication to remain a forum for ideas that make a difference, both locally and internationally.

This edition is presented for readers to enjoy, as it will significantly interest and inspire all audiences. The same dedication will be maintained to provide quality content and further strengthen the scientific community.
